DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. The Examiner of record has changed. Please address future correspondence to Examiner Staples. Per Applicant's request filed 05/15/2002 a new formal Restriction Requirement is provided below which is directed to claims 53-108.

2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: (a) FEN-1 endonucleases and first structure-specific nucleases comprising a purified Fen-1 endonuclease and (b) second structure-specific nucleases. The species are independent or distinct because each species has a distinct and separate protein structure. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, or a single grouping of patentably indistinct species, for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

Elect and identify one species from each of Groups A and B below.

Group A: FEN-1 endonucleases and first structure-specific nucleases comprising a purified FEN-1 endonuclease.

Elect one FEN-1 endonuclease or elect one first structure nuclease comprising a purified Fen-1 endonuclease, and

Completely identify any claimed features of the elected species including, where identified, by one SEQ ID NO .

Group B: Second structure-specific nucleases.

Elect one second structure nuclease, and

Completely identify any claimed features of the elected species including, where identified, by one SEQ ID NO.

There is a search and/or examination burden for the patentably distinct species as set forth above because at least the following reason(s) apply:

- the species or groupings of patentably indistinct species have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, and
- the species or groupings of patentably indistinct species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes /subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search strategies or search queries, especially with regards to sequence searches and searches for different proteins).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or a grouping of patentably indistinct species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and

(ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species or grouping of patentably indistinct species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species or grouping of patentably indistinct species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species, or groupings of patentably indistinct species from which election is required, are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing them to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

3. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
